

SWEGPEC 2026: Call for Papers

Annual Workshop for the Swedish Graduate Program in Economics

October 22–23, 2026 | Linköping University, Sweden

The Division of Economics at Linköping University is pleased to invite PhD students and faculty to the Annual SWEGPEC Workshop. The event will be held at Scandic Frimurarehotellet in Linköping, October 22–23, 2026 (lunch to lunch).

The workshop provides PhD students with an opportunity to present and discuss their research before submitting to national and international conferences. Each presenting PhD student will be paired with a senior discussant to provide constructive feedback. We welcome papers from all fields of economics.

Keynote speaker

We are pleased to announce that the keynote address for SWEGPEC 2026 will be delivered by Kasper Roszbach, Professor of Economics at Lund University.

Registration and submission

All PhD students and faculty within the SWEGPEC network are warmly invited to participate. Please register via the following link: Link to the registration form.

- PhD Students: Please submit a title and abstract for your paper if you wish to present.
- Senior Faculty: Please indicate your availability to serve as a discussant.

Participation is free of charge. Hotel accommodation (one night), lunch for both days, and dinner on the first day are covered by the SWEGPEC network. Participants are, however, responsible for arranging their own travel and covering the associated costs.

Important Dates

- August 31, 2026: Deadline for registration.
- September 15, 2026: The workshop program and discussant assignments, along with hotel confirmations, will be communicated.
- October 1, 2026: Deadline for presenters to share their papers with the assigned discussant.
- October 22–23, 2026: SWEGPEC Workshop in Linköping.

Workshop organizers

If you have any further questions, please contact: swegpec2026@liu.se. Mimmi Gustafsson, Axel Hedström, Robert Lindahl, and Gazi Salah Uddin.