

ÖREBRO UNIVERSITY'S NOBEL DAY FESTIVITIES

Welcome to Nobel Day Festivities 2021 – DIGITAL!

We hereby invite you to the Nobel Day Festivities on the 9th of December 2021.

Every year, the Nobel Prize in Physiology or Medicine is awarded in December at the anniversary of Alfred Nobel's death. The School of Health Sciences and the School of Medical Sciences at Örebro University traditionally honor this day by organizing research activities and festivities. The day includes scientific activities such as lectures, poster presentations and selected oral presentations. All poster presentations will be documented in Book of abstracts.

Who can attend the Nobel Day Festivities 2021?

Supervisors, co-supervisors, researchers and doctoral students at the School of Health Sciences and the School of Medical Sciences and special invited students.

Who can attend with abstract and poster?

Doctoral students, researchers at the beginning of their careers (up to one year after the dissertation) and special invited students.

For further information, abstract submission and registration for participation please see the Nobel Day Festivities website <https://www.oru.se/nobeldayfestivities>. The website will be continuously updated.

Best Regards,

Nobel Day Festivities Committee

Simon Athlin, Karuna Dahlberg, Daniel Eklund, Johanna Huldin, Elisa Kosamo, Cecilia Pettersson.
